Which project, deal, or transaction was the “game-changer” in the advancement of your career?

A luxury residential property located on Meridian Ave. in Miami Beach which involved a complete demolition, redesign and new construction. I served as the advisor and project consultant on this project which involved a complete transformation of a quintessential 1930s Mediterranean style Florida stucco home into a new modern steel and glass structure.

How do you contribute to your community or your profession?

We serve as sponsors for the Center for Therapeutic Riding on the East End (CTREE) and also support Operation International, a non-profit formerly known as International Surgical Mission, which provides medical aid to adults and children in impoverished nations.

What do you like most about your job?

My father groomed me from an early age to follow in his footsteps and it is gratifying to be able to bring to fruition his goal for me, which also allows me to apply my business acumen, construction and project management experience, design expertise and overall creativity and strategic thinking in all of our projects.

What led you to your current profession?

My passion for architecture, interior design and real estate development.

Who or what inspires you?

People's lives inspire me. Hearing about their stories and goals and how I can capture that in our projects is very inspirational. I am always taking away little details that become very valuable.

If your life were made into a movie, what actor would you want to portray you?

Jane Fonda. I love her courage to be exactly who she is and how she fights for what she believes in. I also admire how great she looks and her overall health and fitness.

What social media platform do you use the most professionally?

Instagram and Facebook
